PREFACE TO THE SEMINAR

The opulence and promise of the present Seminar with its theme “Future of Teacher Education under Integrated Teacher Education Programme (ITEP)” to be held on 06th & 07th February 2026 on the Sprawling campus of Gautam Buddha Teachers' Training College Hazaribag, presents a sleek and new look with a “renewed push” to deliberate on policies, programmes, Curriculum, Pedagogy, Assessment, Contours, Concerns, Issues, emerging prospects and possibilities and accompanying Challenges in view of the globalization scenario to suit our objectives at international level, with a view to putting up a glaring façade of Higher Education buoyed up by the inclusion of Indian Knowledge Systems incorporating Science, technology, for equitable and inclusive higher education aiming at sustainable development.

Teacher education plays a pivotal role in shaping the quality of education and nation-building. In the rapidly evolving educational landscape of the 21st century, the need for competent, committed, and professionally trained teachers has become more crucial than ever. Recognizing this need, the Government of India has introduced the Integrated Teacher Education Programme (ITEP) as a transformative initiative aimed at strengthening teacher preparation in alignment with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020.

The theme of the seminar, “Future of Teacher Education under the Integrated Teacher Education Programme (ITEP)”, is both timely and significant. ITEP seeks to integrate disciplinary knowledge, pedagogical skills, practical training, and research orientation within a four-year integrated framework. This innovative programme envisions producing teachers who are academically sound, technologically competent, ethically grounded, and socially responsible.

This seminar provides a meaningful platform for academicians, teacher educators, researchers, policymakers, and practitioners to deliberate on the opportunities, challenges, and prospects of ITEP. It encourages critical reflection on curriculum design, experiential learning, assessment reforms, digital integration, and quality assurance mechanisms in teacher education.

The deliberations and scholarly contributions presented in this seminar are expected to offer valuable insights and constructive recommendations for the effective implementation and future growth of ITEP. It is hoped that this academic endeavour will contribute significantly towards reimagining teacher education and strengthening the foundation of a vibrant, inclusive, and future-ready education system.
